Evaluability assessment of UNICEF Chad country programme of cooperation, 2024–2026	Priorities 1–3 (all outcomes)	Goal Areas 1–5	The evaluability assessment of the country programme as a prelude to its summative evaluation is consistent with the requirements of the evaluation policy of UNICEF.	The evaluability assessment aims to inform and clarify the conditions under which a country programme evaluation can be carried out. This will involve assessing the programme design and data availability, and analysing the institutional context in terms of the practicality and usefulness of the evaluation.	2024	150 000 (RR) 0 (OR) 150 000 (Total)
Evaluation of the UNICEF Chad country programme of cooperation, 2024–2026	Priorities 1–3 (all outcomes)	Goal Areas 1–5	The evaluation of the country programme is in line with UNICEF evaluation policy, which recommends a country programme evaluation for each programme cycle. This evaluation will consider the implementation of all programmatic shifts identified for the country programme document to scale up good practices and innovations: (a) Focus on children and adolescents; (b) Put communities at the centre of considerations and	Generate evidence to: (a) Strengthen UNICEF accountability to the Government of Chad and its beneficiaries; (b) Scale up good practices and innovations identified; (c) Contribute to the development of the next programme of cooperation; (d) Contribute to the next United Nations Sustainable Development Cooperation Framework.	2025	500 000 (RR) 0 (OR) 500 000 (Total)

			(i) Design, implement, monitor and evaluate evidence-based public policies and disseminate data for effective use by communities at the local level.
Formative evaluation of newborn care in Chad	Priority 1, outcome 2	Goal Area 1	This evaluation is consistent with UNICEF evaluation policy. The results will help to guide the strategies to scale up the newborn care programme. The evaluation will help to evaluate the effectiveness of integrated health and HIV care approaches for mothers and their children and will indirectly evaluate the country's contributions to achieving immunization results (key result for children 1).	Identify and share good practices and lessons learned to: (a) Strengthen newborn care interventions; (b) Integrate new strategies to strengthen interventions to tackle neonatal mortality; (c) Provide the Government and other stakeholders with evidence to improve the implementation of the national health development plan.	2026	200 000 (RR) 50 000 (OR) 250 000 (Total)
Evaluation of integrated actions to promote optimal infant and young child feeding	Priority 1, outcome 2	Goal Area 1	The evaluation of integrated actions to promote infant and young child feeding (IYCF) practices is consistent with UNICEF evaluation policy. In recent years, UNICEF has made significant investments in interventions to prevent and treat malnutrition, especially at the	Demonstrate key outcomes in implementing integrated interventions to promote optimal IYCF practices as a gateway to reducing stunting in children under 5 years of age and to inform the expansion phase of the scaling-up plan over the next 10 years. 			community level. These interventions will be evaluated to guide the scale-up of good practices and help to generate evidence to accelerate the implementation of interventions against stunting (key result for children 2).	(b) Share with other countries in the region the good practices identified from implementing integrated and multisectoral approaches that use IYCF as a gateway; (c) Integrate and scale up innovative strategies for accelerating exclusive breastfeeding and complementary feeding in the implementation of the country programme.
Summative evaluation of interventions on demand for schooling and quality of education	Priority 1, outcome 2	Goal Area 3	This evaluation is consistent with UNICEF evaluation policy. Despite the efforts of the Government and partners, access to and quality of education remain low in Chad. UNICEF is committed to working with the Government to achieve key results for children 3 and 4 by 2025. Several strategies are being tested, including strengthening the availability of teaching and learning resources, and improving the behaviour and practices of teachers and education supervisors to improve access to quality education.	This evaluation will: (a) Show UNICEF specific contributions to the education sector; (b) Identify good practices, lessons learned and approaches to improve the quality of education; (c) Mobilize resources for scaling-up; (d) Inform the development of the new programme through findings, lessons learned and recommendations.	2025	250 000 (RR) 50 000 (OR) 300 000 (Total)

			These strategies will be evaluated to identify the good practices and the conditions under which they can be scaled up.
Formative evaluation of the National Child Protection Policy	Priority 2	Goal Areas 1–5	The evaluation of the implementation of the National Child Protection Policy is in line with UNICEF evaluation policy. It will focus on four main areas: (a) Social mobilization on child protection issues; (b) Strengthening and applying the normative and institutional framework; (c) Care and outreach work; (d) Intersectoral coordination and monitoring and evaluation framework.	Generate evidence to improve the implementation of the National Child Protection Policy based on lessons learned and good practices.	2026	250 000 (RR) 0 (OR) 250 000 (Total)
Summative evaluation of the scaling up of interoperability between the health services and the birth registration system	Priority 2	Goal Areas 1–5	The summative evaluation of the scaling up of interoperability at the national level between health and civil/birth registration services is in line with the UNICEF evaluation policy. Interoperability between the health system and the birth registration system is an acceleration strategy	Identify good practices, lessons learned and approaches to improve and scale up birth registration.
